National conference on 'Understanding Civil Services in the Present era'

The Civil Services Academy at MANUU on 24th of October 2017 will organise a National conference on 'Understanding Civil Services in the Present era'. The main objective of this conference is to increase the number of marginalized groups and to train students for Civil services examination. All coaching institutes across the country will come together to discuss common concerns and goals. MANUU requests all such institutions that provide guidance to Civil services aspirants, particularly from the weaker sections to nominate their representatives and speakers for this conference.

Women still constitute less than 15% the Civil services and Muslims less than 3%. Also while a predominant number of officers are from the Hindi mainland of the more than 4500 IAS officers in the country, only 30 have Urdu as their mother tongue compared to 1758 with Hindi, 274 with Tamil and 106 with Malayalam as their mother tongues. The conference will focus on how coaching institutes would help improve representation of Women, Muslims, Minorities, SCs and STs in Government services.

The UGC and the MHRD have mandated that Government sponsored academies across the country must work together and collaborate on all fronts. The conference will seek to bring faculty and administrators from Civil services coaching institutes across the country both in the public and the private sector to find ways of working together to provide high quality coaching to those who must be brought up to participate equally in this tough examination process. The invited speakers include Prof. M.F. Farooqui, IAS (Rtd.), Mr. Samar Hamid of Hamdard Academy and Prof. Upendra Gaur of UIAS.
